DESCRIPTION

This cookbook is the equivalent of a one-stop shop. Lunch or dinner, a snack or afternoon tea, a meat dish or a vegetarian stir-fry: whatever the need, it's catered for in this blockbuster compendium of reliable, triple-tested recipes for all the family. Inspired by traditional favourites and by cuisines from around the world, the recipes use ingredients now readily available in supermarkets and delicatessens and the step-by-step photographs illustrate techniques with which less experienced cooks may be unfamiliar. With so much to choose from, this book will be dipped into again and again.

KEY SELLING POINTS

- 1000 recipes specially chosen to make everyday cooking easy and stress-free.
- Step-by-step photographs clearly illustrate many different techniques.
- The recipes include traditional family favourites and flavours from around the world.

DESCRIPTION

Sibella Court sees the world differently. In her latest book, the stylist and bestselling author of Etcetera shows us how to bring our travels home with us in the most unexpected of ways. The globetrotter and treasure hunter travelled to Syria, Mexico, Italy, India and Japan to be inspired by everything from door knobs and street signs to roadside shrines and household brooms – things that most of us wouldn't even notice. In Nomad, the ideas, photographs and mementos she collected are used to inspire room settings, illustrating simple, practical and surprising ways to be reminded of your travel experiences. Sibella's approach is not about recreating a whole look but about adding and subtracting, rearranging and recycling, transforming and rethinking to make interior spaces that reflect your personality, experiences and lifestyle. Nomad will help open your eyes to what's around you and fuel your imagination long after the suitcase is unpacked.

KEY SELLING POINTS

- Room settings are shot in private homes rather than a studio to show that any decorative background can be restyled with travel inspirations
- Sibella Court's philosophy is an organic and sustainable one, encouraging recycling and creatively re-using rather than consuming new resources
- Includes a list of Sibella's favourite shops and a list of the unique hotels she stayed in while researching the countries in this book

AUTHOR PROFILE

After living and working as an interior stylist in NYC for 10 years, Sibella Court was drawn back home to summer days by the beach in Sydney, where she opened her haberdashery meets hardware store, The Society Inc., a home for all the flea market finds and artisan pieces she's collected and uncovered over years of globetrotting. Sibella, who has appeared on Keith Johnson's show, Man Shops Globe, on the Sundance Channel, designs commercial interiors for the Merivale Group and contributes to InsideOut, Vogue Living and Harper's Bazaar. Her first book is the bestseller Etcetera: Creating beautiful interiors with the things you love. She has also created a 120-palette paint range for Murobond and a hardware range exclusively for Anthropologie and The Society Inc. Sibella is constantly on the lookout for beautiful and curious things.

DESCRIPTION

'He's not Australia's answer to Ben Elton; he's better than that.'

Sydney Morning Herald

'The photo was clearly sexual, all skin and limbs. It was a CCTV image, which looked to be from security footage. Lucas leaned forward to read the accompanying paragraph. Within half a sentence it was as though a foot had crashed through the monitor and kicked his teeth in. He closed his eyes and willed himself to wake up. He checked again. The image was still there. My god, look at the goofy smiles. No wonder the world was laughing. Under normal circumstances, he'd be laughing too. If the face that was front-and-centre didn't belong to a member of his family.'

Lucas Dekker is celebrity offspring, twice over. His Australian father, Charlie, has recently retired from a stellar football career in the Premier League. His English mother, Monica, is a self-help guru, who has sold millions of books with her pro-family message. But when Charlie's involvement in a bizarre sex scandal hits the tabloids, the Dekkers' own family dynamic will never be the same again. Making News is a darkly hilarious story about celebrity culture, the media and what really goes on behind the smutty front pages that everyone loves to read.

KEY SELLING POINTS

- 'Another knockout comic novel from a man who clearly knows what he's doing.' Tony Martin
- Praise for Tony's writing: The Age claimed his writing 'sparkled from beginning to end with exhilarating freshness and inventiveness' and Inside Sport compared him to the likes of Ben Elton
- The subject matter of this book is always relevant. The mainstream media love writing stories about sporting heroes and sex scandals. This takes a satirical look at the story behind a story.

AUTHOR PROFILE

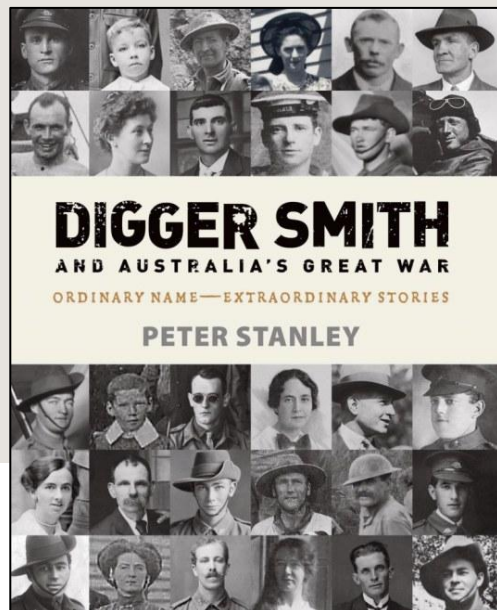

Tony Wilson has worked as a professional AFL footballer, a lawyer and a television presenter. He was a long-serving and much-loved member of 'The Breakfasters' team on Melbourne's Radio 3RRR. His first adult fiction novel, Players, attracted much critical acclaim, as well as the honour of being one of the 2006 SMH Best Young Australian Novelists. Tony also writes children's books and non-fiction sports books.

DESCRIPTION

Smiths were among the first men to land on Gallipoli. Smiths fought and died at Pozières, Bullecourt and Passchendaele. Smiths were wounded – and treated by doctors and nurses named Smith. At home, Smiths penned patriotic doggerel and spoke vociferously against conscription.

There was Grace Cossington Smith and her iconic painting The Sock Knitter, and Victor Smith, who designed a guided missile in his dad's workshop in suburban Brisbane. Australia's Smiths included the AIF's senior policeman, a Jewish VC, and the war's most famous Australian aviators. They and thousands of more humble Smiths reflect the hopes and fears, the tragedies and the triumph of Australia in the Great War.

Then there are the German-Australian Smiths, the Schmidts, who fought for Australia even as Schmidts at home were vilified and interned. Just as the Great War affected all Australians, we can see the great range of their experience through the lives and deaths of those sharing the most common, representative surname.

KEY SELLING POINTS

- Compelling story telling; a riveting read that cleverly uses the most common and representative of surnames, Smith, as a device to shine a light on to how the Great War affected all Australians
- Illustrated with contemporary photos that brings the reader close to the characters of the narrative
- An important contribution to Australian literature of the Great War

AUTHOR PROFILE

Dr Peter Stanley is Australia's most prolific writer on the Great War. He has published 25 books, most dealing with the experience of war in Australia and Britain. Peter's books include Tarakan, White Mutiny, For Fear of Pain, Quinn's Post, Anzac, Gallipoli, Invading Australia, A Stout Pair of Boots and Men of Mont St Quentin. His books published by Pier 9 include Commando to Colditz, Bad Characters: Sex, Crime, Murder, Mutiny and the Australian Imperial Force and Simpson's Donkey. Formerly the Principal Historian at the Australian War Memorial, where he worked from 1980 to 2007, he heads the Centre for Historical Research at the National Museum of Australia and is an adjunct professor at the Australian National University and the Australian Defence Force Academy.
